He Also Tells Some Stories About Cactus Defeats Candelabra in a Grangers Unaffected by Unfavorable Kings and Other Persons.

William A. Brady, Champion James J. Corbett's manager, arrived from Eng-Hundred and Twenty-third street, by an "Evening World" reporter, and gave account of Corbett's trip abroad nd of his intentions when he gets back

The most absorbing topic about Corsuppose, his long-contemplated and ch-mooted fight with Jackson. Now. he true inwardness of this matter is the ring and wants to retire before laurels are plucked by Corbett, He well enough that the stripling of five years ago, who fount him at that time to a draw, would now Corbett has since then gained twen y pounds, has met and vanquished Sa the greatest fighters in the world and is at the very zenith or his prime. True, the National Sporting Club of London offered $15,000 for a fight between roett and Jackson in the 'time ring,' e inoney was actually put up by Lord nodale, it being hold by the London briling Life, and Jackson accepted the sporting Life, and Jackson accepted the offer. Corbett declined: It. why? the rules of the Club, and, in fact, or every club throughout Great Britain no fight can exceed the limit of twenty rounds. Such a limitation would result inevitably in an unanished battle, and, besides, Jackson's wonderful popularity in England would make it well night impossible to secure wholly fair play.

"Much has indeed, been said of Corbett's popularity in Great Britain, nor can't be denied that it exists, But Corbett's popularity is among those classes that comine had seed that it exists, But Corbett's popularity is among those classes that comine him mainly for his delightful manners, and would in all probability mot be represented at a fight.

"Lord Lonsdale's offer was made June 39 last. The next day the Jacksonville, Flu., Sporting Club put up an offer of 15,000 for a fight between the two pugillists in Jackson being a colored man, claimed that the face prejudice down South would militate against his chaptes of getting fair play. Corbett pointed out that George Dixon, who is also colored, was fairly treated in New Orleans, but Jackson was firm in his declension.

There will be a lawn party here on Saturday, Aug. II. The grounds will be beautifully decorated, every jockey will be respicated in new colors, and a cold lunca will be served at 3 oclock. Gov. Flower and other prominent State officials are expected to attend.

Many of the politicians now in Saratosa for the purpose of attending the political conference were at the race track to-day. It was noted that nearly all found their way to Richard Croker's box, where earnest conversations took place. Register, Lewy was much interested in the racing. It was his first visit to a race course.

LUKE HARRIGAN ON TRIAL.

Accused of Robbing Florence R. Clark of Over $1,100.

Luke Harrigan, formerly a bartender in this city, who lived at 306 Third avenue, Brooklyn, was placed on trial this aftermoon in Part 1 of the Court of General Sessions, before Judge Martine, charged with grand larceny.

Miss Florence R. Clark, a cook formerly employed by Major Bond, at 38 West Flfty-first street, was the complainant. She says that the prisoner, after promising to marry her, induced her in 1832 to accompany him to England, and that he got her to intrust him with a draft for $1,00.

She says he failed to make her his wife, and abandoned her while she was ill in England, returning with her money to this country. nue, Brooklyn, was placed on trial this

The rule which the Saratoga Association has adopted in regard to races where entrance is free will go a long way towards bringing owners to their senses. As the majority of purses amount to $500, the 10 per cent, forfelt will cause many an owner to think hard before they order their entries withdrawn. The Association had no other remedy. The Jockey Tub rule which provides that two horses make a race is mainly responsible for the trouble. In former days, when the Saratoga Association was independent, there was a rule in effect which provided that four horses must start to make a race. It was Preparing to Swallow the Hunter.

It am a sworn enemy to everything of a snaky nature, whether I find it in human beings or reptiles, said Col. E. C. Shaw, of London, an ex-officer in the Liftish army, to a St. Louis Globen Democrat reporter.

Turing my active service in the army I was stationed for a time in British Cutana, and while there had an experit ence with a snake that was startling enough to suit the most adventurous in mind. I used to amuse myself a great deal by fishing in a neighboring fiver. To mind in the state of the property of the state the death threes to roll itself around to but, grasping the paddle. I placed the canoe out at harm's way by a single stroke. The make still continued to writhe around had of its immense body in the water and the other half or the bank. I fered another diarge into its bead, which put an effectual end to its stringles. The reptile measured forty feet in length and was as big around as a man's body.
